

Bart Sabine Sabine and Waters

Provide environmental services such as wetland delineations and permitting and endangered species management. The combination of forestry and environmental services put the company in a unique position of becoming a liaison between the US Army Corps of Engineers and the forest community. Sabine & Waters participated in the drafting of South Carolina's Best Management Practices. Staff includes registered foresters, wildlife biologists, GIS professionals and prescribed fire managers.

- Founder of Sabine and Waters Environmental.
- For 40 years has provided forestry and environmental land management expertise including wetland studies, protected species surveys, habitat restoration projects, timber resource surveys and reforestation projects across the southeast.
- Member of the board for the Lord Berkeley Conservation Trust.
- Florida State Botany BS; UVa Masters in Environmental Science